Shaping Interculturalism in Youth Work

As 2008 is the European Year of Intercultural Dialogue the National Youth Council of Ireland is hosting a conference entitled Shaping Interculturalism in Youth Work.

This one day event will showcase successful youth projects and promote debate on the barriers and challenges facing the youth sector as it embraces Interculturalism.

This conference is aimed at heads of organisations, policy makers, decision makers, youth workers, volunteers and anyone interested in Interculturalism in youth work.

Who are NYCI?

The National Youth Council of Ireland (NYCI) is an umbrella organisation that represents and supports the interests of 54 national voluntary youth organisations and uses its collective experience to act on issues that impact on young people.

We provide training, support and information in Youth Health, Youth Arts, Development Education, Interculturalism and Child Protection along with working in the areas of Advocacy, Research & Policy and Young People's Participation. Our work is based on the core values of equity, volunteerism, pro-activity, interdependence, quality and representation.

Yasmin Alibhai-Brown – Biography

Yasmin Alibhai-Brown is originally from Uganda and arrived in Britain in 1972. She is a distinguished journalist who has written for The Guardian, Observer, The New York Times, Time Magazine, Newsweek, The Evening Standard, The Mail and other newspapers and is now a regular columnist on The Independent and London's Evening Standard. She is also a radio and television broadcaster and author of several books. From 1996 to 2001 she was a Research Fellow at the Institute for Public Policy Research which published True Colours on the role of government on racial attitudes and is a senior fellow at the Foreign Policy Centre.

She created After Multiculturalism, a pamphlet re-assessing the multicultural ideology in Britain which was the first critical examination by a social democrat of a settled and now damaging orthodoxy. She is also a regular international public speaker in Britain, other European countries, North America and Asian nations. Yasmin has a forthcoming book entitled Settlers Cookbook, a memoir of migration love and food due out soon. She is also Vice President of the United Nations Association, UK.
